Pres. Taft's Hastings Program

4:30 p. m., October 2nd. President and his party arrive C. B. & Q.; debark at Prospect Park.

4:30 p. m. President speaks to citizens of western Nebraska at Chautauqua pavilion.

6:00 p. m. Automobile tour of the city by president and party and the reception committee.

6:30 p. m. Banquet at Fraternity hall and addresses by prominent Nebraskans.

The president's special train on board of which will be prominent railroad officials, newspaper men and the president's immediate party, will arrive in Hastings at 4:30 p. m. from Lincoln. His train will be stopped at the crossing on Hastings avenue. Then he will be taken to Chautauqua park. There accommodations are available for fully seven thousand people within easy reach of the president's voice.

Special trains are being run to Hastings from every part of western, northern and southern Nebraska, and it is expected that a tremendous crowd will be waiting to greet President Taft when he alights from his train.

Shortly after 6:00 p. m. the president will meet approximately three hundred representative business men of western Nebraska at the banquet to be tendered in his honor and in honor of the visiting party at Fraternity hall.

Just preceding the banquet the entire party including the reception committee appointed by Mayor Miles will tour the city in automobiles and president will have an opportunity to view one of the growing little cities of the west.

All railroads entering Hastings have signified their intentions to run special trains that will enable all visitors in Hastings from at least one hundred and fifty miles distant to return to their home by bed-time.

Lincoln's Welcome to Pres. Taft

Lincoln, Sept. 29.—Lincoln is putting on her gayest apparel for the welcome to President Taft Monday. Committees are rapidly working out the details necessary to a big reception, and if the day is fair an immense crowd of Nebraska people will see and hear the nation's chief.

The Lincoln Commercial club and other civic organizations, now at work on the preliminaries of the reception, hope to make this a welcome of the state to the distinguished guest. He will here be in the capital of the state. Here he will be greeted by the senators and representatives of the state. Here Governor Aldrich will extend him a welcome in the name of the state and its people. Here he will be greeted by citizens of every county in the state. Lincoln's welcome will be the state's welcome.

President Taft will reach Lincoln at 12 o'clock noon, Monday, October 2nd, 1911. Received by a reception committee, of which Elmer J. Burkett is chairman, he will be conducted to the Lincoln hotel where he will lunch as guest of the Lincoln Commercial Club. He will then be driven by automobile east on O street to Sixteenth street and south to M street, and west to the auditorium at Thirteenth and M streets. The big auditorium will be thrown open to the general public. The president's escort of honor will be G. A. R. veterans, and the Lincoln post issues a cordial invitation to all G. A. R. men of the state to participate with them in this capacity.

Captain H. E. Yates and the University Cadets will assist in keeping the streets open along the line of march, so that the president may greet and be greeted by the thousands of people who desire to see him. The University Cadet band, and the Lincoln Concert band and a fife and drum corps of the G. A. R., will furnish the music for the parade. The president will speak about three-quarters of an hour, and then be conducted back to his private train, which will proceed westward on his trip.

State Superintendent J. W. Crabtree has ruled that it is illegal for any school district to pay to the school district of the city of Lincoln more than 75 cents a week tuition for non-resident pupils under the free high school law. If more than that is paid it must be paid by the parents of the non-resident pupils. This ruling follows a former ruling given by E. C. Bishop when he was state superintendent. A new ruling was asked for, and Mr. Crabtree, after conferring with the attorney general, decided that the opinion of Mr. Bishop must stand.—Lincoln Journal.

D. W. Colson, candidate for clerk of the district court on the Democratic ticket, has been a resident of Red Willow county, for nearly twenty years. He has been engaged in stock raising and farming; owned and managed the "Bee Hive" store in McCook for over ten years; and for the last three years has been engaged in general fire insurance business over Southwestern Nebraska. Having had this varied experience and being in close touch with most of the people all the time, he feels qualified to considerately and efficiently serve them in the capacity of district court clerk. Soliciting the support of the voters of the county, I pledge myself to strict economy and prompt service.—Political advertising.

boys and girls of the McCook Legion. This was most interesting and served to disclose the work done by this department, which brings into service the young children.

The music-literary program of the evening consisted of a duet by Miss Florence Rosebush and Miss Minnie Viersen of our city and a recitation of an appropriate character. Both were well received for their artistic excellence and enthusiastically applauded.

Thursday's Sessions.

The consecration service was conducted by Mrs. Rev. Brown of Surprise. The reports of the committees on resolutions and credentials and the election of officers and delegates occupied the morning and was not completed until well into the afternoon session. This business was followed in the later afternoon by the local president's march.

The leading item of the afternoon was the address, "The Five Stars," by Mrs. Margaret Carns of Lincoln.

Officers.

The following were the officers elected:

President — Mrs. Frances B. Heald, Osceola.
Vice president — Mrs. S. K. Daily, University Place.
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Bradbury, University Place.
Recording Secretary — Mrs. Dwyer, Boone.
Treasurer — Mrs. Taggart, Omaha.

Department gleanings were continued and before the afternoon adjournment they had the presentation of the Union Signal.

Tonight will be the illustrated address by Dr. Shepherd.

The sessions will conclude tomorrow, both morning and afternoon sessions being programed.

Notes.

The "girls" spanked "Tama Jim" good and plenty—and he deserved it.

There are 4,000 pledged "white Ribboners" in Nebraska. There ought to be another cypher.

Mrs. Heald, for president, and Mrs. Daily, for vice president, were elected for the sixth time.

The "White Ribboners" believe Your Uncle Sam should retire from the liquor business—and there are others of similar belief.

The vocal solo by Mrs. C. W. Britt on Tuesday evening, "The Bird With the Broken Pinion," was another of the superb accomplishments of McCook's leading soprano, and delighted all.

The Lincoln members of the convention arrived in a special car, Monday night, attached to train 3. The car was sidetracked here for the night, the delegates sleeping until Tuesday morning. The list of officers and delegates on the special car composed: Mrs. L. S. Carey, Mrs. F. A. Harrison, Mrs. M. B. Plumb, Mrs. Adelaide Rood, Mrs. Dora Moler, Mrs. Alie Jackson, Mrs. J. J. Bristo, Mrs. Mary Jay, Mrs. Nettie Hayder, Mrs. M. L. Trester, Mrs. Persis Bently, Miss Sarah Rands, Mrs. Sarah Beardsley, all of Lincoln; Mrs. M. M. Claffin, Miss Bradbury, Mrs. A. J. Wheeler, Miss Josie Sullivan, all of University Place. Others from out in the state who arrived on the special car with the Lincoln delegation were: Mrs. Annetta Nesbitt of Pawnee City, Mrs. W. G. Whitmore of Valley, Mrs. Edith Rothacher of Wisner, Mrs. J. E. Van Lieu of Blair, Mrs. L. G. Dyar of Boone. These were joined by other delegations from Fairmont and Hastings.

This is the first time in the history of the organization that the state convention has been held as far west as McCook.

The general officers of the organization, president, Mrs. F. B. Heald of Osceola, vice president, Mrs. S. K. Daily of University Place; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Shepherd of Lincoln; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Shrimpton of Fremont; treasurer, Mrs. Laura Taggart of Omaha, arrived in McCook on Monday morning.

A Double Risk.

It was well known in Mayville that when Cyrus Fanning lent anything, from a hammer to a plow, he expected a good return for the favor. It was a matter of astonishment to Wilson Green, however, when on inquiring of Mr. Fanning how much it would cost to rent his long ladder for an afternoon Cyrus replied promptly, "One dollar fifty."

"Now, look here, Cy," remonstrated his neighbor; "you know I've got to borrow it, for mine isn't long enough to reach where I'm obliged to climb to search out that chimney leak for the Widow Sears. Can't you make it less?"

"No, I can't," and Mr. Fanning shook his small head and closed his obstinate mouth.

"Why can't you?" demanded Wilson Green.

"Because there's a weak place in it two-thirds the way up!" snapped Mr. Fanning. "It'll bear my weight all right, but you're a good thirty pounds heavier. If it gave way under you 'twould cost me a dollar to get it mended. Considering the risk, I call a dollar 'n' a half cheap."—Youth's Companion.

A Famous Welsh Fortress.

Carnarvon castle is the most splendid specimen of medieval military architecture surviving in Britain, not excepting Alnwick. Art and beauty were combined with strength by De Elfreton, the architect, who had been commanded to construct a palace within an impregnable fortress. Whether the mean little passage chamber in the Eagle tower was the birthplace of the infant prince whom Edward I. made the medium of such a grim practical joke upon the Welsh seems doubtful, but the main story may still be true. Every famous soldier who helped to make history in this corner of Britain has played some part within or without the walls of Carnarvon castle. It has been starved into surrender, but never captured by force of arms and can therefore claim to be considered a "virgin fortress."—Westminster Gazette.

Gloves and Kings.

Gloves have always been connected with royalty. When the tomb of King John was opened a century ago it was discovered that his hands were gloved. In France the gloves worn by the king at the coronation were consecrated by the officiating bishop, and at English coronations a glove is thrown down as a challenge to any one to dispute the royal title. When George II. was crowned an unknown Jacobite came forward and lifted the glove on behalf of the absent Stuart, and at the coronation of Edward VII. the Duke of Norfolk handed to his majesty a pair embroidered with the dual arms because a rumor connected with the duke's inheritance is held by the service of presenting the monarch with a right hand glove on the day of the coronation.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

The Doctor's Fee.

There came a letup in the rush of patients, and the doctor opened two small envelopes lying on his desk.

"It's all right," he said. "I wasn't sure. Without offending I couldn't open the envelopes in the presence of the persons who gave them to me. They contain the fees left by two Englishmen who called close on each other's heels. English etiquette is rather embarrassing for a physician who is used to patients who hand over their money with the denomination right on top, American fashion. In England it would be considered an insult to give a physician his fee unwrapped. You can't insult an American physician that way, but newcomers credit him with an excess of sensibility and give him a good many uneasy moments wondering if he hasn't been underpaid."—New York Sun.

Penn Very Much a Londoner.

William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, was born on Tower Hill on Oct. 14, 1644, was christened in All Hallows church, became a student of Lincoln's Inn, and then, joining the Quakers, he abandoned the law and preached along with George Fox in a meeting house off Lombard street. He once occupied a house in Norfolk street, Strand, chosen on account of its closeness to the river, which facilitated escape from duns, and he was imprisoned both at Newgate and in the Fleet. So Penn was, after all, very much a Londoner.—London Standard.

Street Through a Church.

One of the best known instances of churches with streets through them is that of St. John the Baptist's church in Bristol, England. The church is situated right over the ancient gateway into the city on the Avon, and the towering spire, standing high above the neighboring houses and streets, is a remarkable sight as one surveys it from the roadway below.

Mommson's Peculiarity.

On his eightieth birthday Theodor Mommson, the historian, received a visit from a great delegation of students, who marched out to his home, but he could not be induced to leave his work to greet them. "They see me every day at the university," he said. "Why do they want to disturb me now?"

Inquisitive.

"That fellow is a positive joke." "Relative of your wife's or holding a better job than you?"—Detroit Free Press.

The W. C. T. U. Convention.

It is hardly probable that the citizens of McCook in any considerable numbers have escaped the inspiration and impulse of the State W. C. T. U. convention now in session in our city, in which 200 delegates—zealous and earnest "White Ribboners" from all over Nebraska have been and are prayerfully planning for the advancement of temperance and purity—or as their emblazoned banner puts it, "For God and Home and Native Land."

The convention being held in the extreme southwestern part of the state, it was hardly to be expected that the convention attendance or interest or enthusiasm could attain such proportions as the annual state gatherings held in the eastern part of the state; but the convention has reached an altitude and exhibited a vigor and power beyond the most rosy expectations of the most optimistic—indeed it has quite equaled any yet held under the most favorable auspices. This fact redounds to the glory of the membership of the W. C. T. U. of Nebraska, who are undaunted by distance, not discouraged by unfavorable circumstances and surroundings; and to the devotion and labor of the local union in attempting so large an undertaking and in carrying it thru to success.

The sessions have crowded the First Methodist church to overflowing and the interest has been deep as the enthusiasm has been spontaneous and lively.

Here's long life and more power to the W. C. T. U. of Nebraska.

A New Ice House.

The company is building a new ice house along the west end of platform, just west of the foot viaduct. This building will be used to store ice for icing passenger trains. It will be of usual ice house construction, with air spaces between the walls, and insulated with wool felt. The interior will be painted white and the floors will be of cement, with proper drainage, etc. Over-head will be provided space for storage of tools, etc. It will be considerably larger than the present ice box which will be removed and the yard in the vicinity of the old icing plant will be spaded up and seeded and otherwise improved in appearance.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

A Great Advantage to Working Men

J. A. Maple, 125 S. 7th st., Stenboville, O., says: "For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My back-ache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." A. McMillen.
